

People - centered forestry for achieving the sustainable development goals

Stream 3 Serving society: forestry and people

Lily room, Fontana Convention Center

Do you know?

- What are the 'four ways' agroforestry can help achieve the SDGs?
- Why do we need to stop arresting shifting cultivators?
- How many billion dollars per year do goods & services from locally controlled forests contribute to national economies?
- What's working to transform unequal gender dynamics that limit women's participation in forest management?

Join local community representatives and top experts to learn about the latest best practices, new research, case studies and lessons learned on what works for people & forests.

Together we will explore how community forestry can deliver on the SDGs – helping not only to sustain forests, but to eradicate poverty and world hunger, promote gender equality, and address climate change.
